If you would like to see the stallions being driven or ridden, you can do so on Wednesday, January 11, 2012 starting at 10:00 a.m. at the WB Stables in Warga. This "open training day" will replace the usual presentation evening. You can enjoy a cup of coffee while watching the stallions being trained.

More information about the horses being auctioned will become available early in January at www.kfps.nl.

English Interpretation of the KFPS Stallion Inspection 2012 Commentary

The Stallion Inspection has been enjoying increasing popularity amongst visitors from other countries for some years now. As studbook, we are naturally delighted with this foreign interest in our purebred stallions. A simultaneous interpretation will be provided this year, for all 3 days, in order to make the Stallion Inspection even more attractive to foreign members. Those attending the show will be able to follow the jury's commentary in the English language via a headset. Seize this chance to learn even more about the Friesian horse! We have a limited number of headsets, so if you haven't reserved a headset, come to the Guest-desk early in the morning! A headset costs € 10,- day, and 3 days for € 25,-. This amount must be paid in cash at the KFPS Guest-desk in Leeuwarden. When you pick up a headset at the Guest-desk you will be asked to also pay a deposit of € 35,- per headset. After returning the headsets your deposit will be refunded. We do ask you to return the headset every day because the headsets need to be recharged at night.

Big names and former Stallion Inspection champions that can always count on a warm reception from the audience. This year, there will be some changes in the championship judging.
